Product Description

Tasting bottles contain a tray of four bottles each containing liquids of four fundamental tastes, salty, sweet, bitter and sour. Each liquids are concentrated with water. Each liquid is contained in a different colored bottle. Glasses and spoons are included in the set.

Purpose

- To help a child realize that there are only four fundamental tastes.
- To develop awareness of the close relationship between taste and smell.
- To discriminate tastes in a simple manner.
- To make a child be aware of his/ her own olfactory and taste senses are linked to strengthen the sense of taste

Exercise

- Demonstrate by pouring fresh water into the jug.
- Bring the tray containing the liquids and place the tray on the mat or table.
- Stand in front of the table and take out four glasses and two little spoons and place them on the table and fill up the glass with water.
- Mix the liquid bottles in a random order. Ask a child to choose a bottle randomly.
- Bring that first chosen bottle and open the bottle and show the child how to use the dropper.
- Drop two drops into your spoon, place the dropper back into the bottle and taste what is in your spoon.
- Replace your spoon into your glass.

- Encourage the child use his spoon and you drop two drops and allow the child to taste.
- Close the bottle and place it off to the left side of the table. Take the sip of water to clear the taste or your palate.
- Similarly, taste all the jars in this same manner, and remember to always make the child to taste the liquid after you.
